

DESCRIPTION

The replacement charger for your KSIX Compass smartwatch is composed of a magnetic pin system, the most convenient and intuitive way to charge your smartwatch. The cable is 60 centimeters long and incorporates a USB-A connector. Get this spare charger to have it always available in the office or elsewhere in the house and do not have to carry the original charger from one place to another and wear it unnecessarily.

Comfortable and easy charging

The magnetic pin system that incorporates this charging cable is the simplest and safest way to charge your KSIX Compass smartwatch. The simplest because its magnetic pins perfectly couple with the pins of the smartwatch, and the safest because, by not incorporating a conventional charging connector, the watch ensures complete watertightness so you can submerge it with complete peace of mind.

Resistant and flexible cable

The cable is made of PVC, which grants it a flexibility and resistance that offer exceptional durability. It has a length of 60 centimeters and incorporates a USB-A connector so you can connect it to any wall charger, external battery or computer port and charge your Core with total comfort.
